Summary

Hello, Myself Shreyash Royzada, I'm a student pursuing Mechanical Engineering from the National Institute of Technology, Raipur.

I would describe Myself as the guy in the room who gets the job done. My skill sets include a variety of tools, all the way from management to technical skills. I never miss an opportunity to learn and thus have collected a plethora of skills, including concepts of Core Mechanical Engineering as well as my recent interest in Data Structures and Algorithm.

I have excellent grasp in CAD Software as well as FEA/CFD Solvers. My previously done Projects focus extensively on Automotive Engineering as well as Robotics. Currently I'm working as a Structural Design Engineering Intern at Webber ElectroCorp. I am also trying to develop my coding skills at the moment, making sure my skill sets are on par with the latest trends.
